Call for Applications to the EUPeace Summer School "Remembering the Future", 1-10 July 2027 at Marburg University

Are you ready to turn your ideas into action and become a changemaker for peace, justice, and inclusion?

Join us for the EUPeace Summer School "Remembering the Future" and become part of an international community of students committed to shaping a more peaceful, just, and inclusive future.

Building on the theoretical knowledge gained through preparatory coursework in a series of online meetings, you will have the opportunity to put your ideas into practice and develop essential skills in dialogue, leadership, and cooperation. Together with fellow students, and guided by an international team of mentors, you will explore how we can learn from the past, engage with the present, and actively shape the future.

But this summer school is about more than learning: it's about making a difference! You will work collaboratively to prepare an exhibition that will be presented as part of the international conference "Remembering the Future". Moreover, you you will work together with your fellow students to plan and organize weekend activities around the themes of peace, justice, and inclusion.

Throughout the summer school, you will be encouraged to take responsibility, share your ideas, collaborate across perspectives, and bring your own initiatives to life—with guidance and support along the way. Your contributions will be visible, meaningful, and part of a wider international conversation.

Come with your ideas. Leave with new skills, new connections, and the experience of making change happen.

We look forward to welcoming you to the EUPeace Summer School "Remembering the Future"—where students don't just participate in shaping the future; they help create it!

Your application contains a short CV, your current transcript of records, and a brief description (max one page) of what you hope to learn, and what you want to contribute to the summer school. An online info session is scheduled for 10 November, 3 PM. Please send your application to ippjis@uni-marburg.de before 30 November 2026.
